

Help Us Find the Hutchinson Brothers!

Check off the grey box when you see one of these historic places!!

The Depot

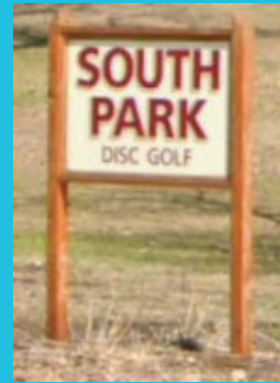

Little Crow Statue

Harrington-Merrill House

South Park

Hager Jewelry Clock

Quast Furniture Billboard

St. John's Episcopal Church

Hutchinson Brothers Statue

Library

The Hutchinson Brothers decided to go for a stroll around town, but we have not been able to find them! Can you help us?

The Hutchinson Brothers enjoy seeing the trains that come into town...maybe check the depot first.

This was the first train station in Hutchinson. It connected Hutchinson with the rest of the state. Do you like trains?

The brothers go over to their friend, Mr. Harrington's home.

The Harrington-Merrill house is the oldest house in the county! Do you think that you could live here?

The brothers always check the time on a clock on Main Street... maybe check there next.

The Hager Jewelry Clock has been on Main Street since the 1940s! Do you know how to read the time on a clock?

Sometimes on their walks, the brothers stop and play music at a small church.

This church has been here since the 1890s. It is over 130 years old! Do you know anyone that old?

The brothers also enjoy sitting by the river along with Little Crow

Chief Little Crow was an American Indian that lived in the area many years ago. Have you seen the Chief Little Crow statue?

The brothers love having picnics in the park!

South Park is the second oldest park in the USA! Have you ever had a picnic here?

Walking downtown, the brothers probably passed a BIG billboard.

The Quast Furniture billboard has been painted on this building for many years! Aren't billboards so cool?

Wait...maybe the brothers did not go missing. They stayed right where they always are in Library Square!

This statue of the Hutchinson Brothers was created in 2005!

DID YOU FIND THE HUTCHINSON BROTHERS???